Boston Nationals Lose Pretty Game by Score of 4 to 5.

BARGER'S WORK A FEATURE

Pitcher Fields Position Brilliantly and Scores Winning Run.

Brooklyn, N. Y., May 28.—Brooklyn and Boston battled for twelve innings to-day, the home team winning by a score of 5 to 4. Barger, who pitched a great game, and fielded his position brilliantly, scored the winning run on a pass, Burch's scratch hit, another pass to Daubert, and Wheat's infield single. The score:

RULES GOVERNING ENDURANCE CONTEST

BY H. W. BASSETT, M. D.,
Referee of North Carolina Endurance

On June 7 the Times-Dispatch will hold the Carolina Endurance Run, and it might not be amiss to call the attention of prospective entrants to some of the rules governing such a contest. Speed counts for nothing in an endurance run, and contrary to the general opinion, the fact that a certain car gets in first has nothing to do with its score at all. Efficiency and absence of necessity for adjustment and repairs govern the score. Careful driving counts for more than does speed.

The speed will be held down to the lowest possible limit compatible with road conditions, and the idea of getting into the control in good season and with the least effort will be dominant.

In appointing an observer, the contestant should bear in mind that the observer is in fact his representative, and is put in this position for the express purpose of protecting the contestant's interests as to the penalties that should be imposed upon other cars.

The observer must note all adjustments made upon the car upon which he is stationed as a passenger, and also note all work as far as lies within his observation that may be done upon any other car. If each observer will take the pains to note these items as they come up, when the checking up of the records of the different cars at the end of the run takes place, much time will be saved and there will be eliminated a large question of doubt as to what some of the observers may mean by their notes.

When an observer fails to note rule infractions by one contestant, the scores of all the other contestants really suffer, inasmuch as the offender is not penalized, and his score is too high as a consequence. This is all within the rules and instructions are plain upon the subject.

Drivers must exercise due care in the management of their cars, and have consideration for the other users of the highway. In three different instances on the Virginia Run, cars were so brought to a standstill on the road that the cars following were blocked, and bumped the car in the lead, much to the detriment of the "bumper." In one instance the bumping car broke a spring. This could have all been avoided by a little forethought on the part of one driver, and less speed on the part of the other. In this instance the first car stopped on the left side of the road, which should have been kept clear for traffic from either direction. He should have taken the right side of the road and brought his car to a standstill there.

In Controls. After checking in at night no driver will be allowed under any circumstances to touch his car except in the presence of his observer for that day, and then only to replenish oil, water and gasoline. Observer and driver must leave the car together.

In the morning the driver must have his observer for that day with him before he can go to his car. Should he do so, that car will be disqualified at once and not allowed to proceed further as a contestant. This rule will be strictly enforced.

The referee will post notices at night naming observers for the following day, so that there may be no confusion in the morning. While in controls the observers and drivers shall be under the supervision of the chief observer, and return all cards and reports to him for the referee.

The contest rules of the A. A. A. will be strictly enforced, and it will be to the interest of all concerned to have a copy of the rules and to attend the meeting held for the instruction of drivers and observers, the date of the meeting to be announced later.

It is the purpose of the promoter to make this a pleasant trip upon which the ladies may go and enjoy the same. It is hoped that this trip will be a pleasure to all participating.

EARLY LEAD WINS FOR WASHINGTON

New York Americans Play Uphill Game, but Lose by 4 to 3.

FRILL MAKES ONLY ERROR

Street's Throwing to Bases Is One of Features of Contest.

New York, May 28.—Washington got an early lead of four runs on New York to-day, and these tallies enabled them to win, 4 to 3, though the locals played a plucky uphill game. The first Washington run was forced in by Manning, the second was due to Frill's wild throw into the crowd, and the next pair were batted in by McBride. Street's throwing to bases was one of the game's features. The score:

ONE-SIDED VICTORY

Detroit, Mich., May 28.—Heavy hitting in the second, third and fourth innings gave Detroit a one-sided victory over Chicago to-day by a score of 9 to 1. White was knocked off the mound in the third, and Lange, who succeeded him, was found freely. A home run by Ty Cobb with Bush on base.

LOHMAN SHOOT IN GLASSY FORM

The Richmond Gun Club held its regular shoot yesterday afternoon, in which some excellent scores were made. Lohman, as has been predicted, came to the front and won high honors, going off with 47 out of 50, with a run of 40 straight, being the largest run made by any member of the club since the season opened. The local shooter is counting on his high average at Atlantic City this fall.

Flippen continues his good shooting, and won second honors, with 44 out of 50, while it is much better than the average for an amateur shooter.

Nay has been doing excellent work, but his gun broke down and he did not shoot up to his usual form.

Scott, an old shooter of the by-gone days, made his appearance at the traps for the first time in several years, and his score will attest that he has not lost his shooting eye, but with a few evenings' practice will be a top-notch shooter.

TARSWIN NINTH FROM LYNCHBURG

Walker Outpitches Griffin—Game Is Most Exciting of Season.

Norfolk, Va., May 28.—For real downright excitement, with 2,000 fans on the anxious bench, the closing game of the Lynchburg-Norfolk series was the liveliest of the season, stick work giving the Tars the victory in the ninth by the score of 7 to 6.

The redeeming feature of the game was its melodramatic character. This was the element of doubt as to the result figuring throughout the nine innings.

Norfolk took the lead in the first three innings. The visitors tied things up in the fourth. The Tars came in for their half, and again took the front place. Lynchburg tied things up in the sixth, and took the lead in the seventh by one run. They increased this by another run in the ninth, and the fans lost heart. Then, along came the glorious ninth. It was a hair-raiser. Munson opened the finale with a clean drive for two bases. Skipper Clark here waived to Reggy to the rear, and called in Sallie to the front. The slugging reserve catcher, he lived up to his name, meeting the first ball pitched square on the nose, and it took up at the fence in deep center. Munson tallied, and Tiedman perched on third. Walker started on his way, but
